

Full comparisons of the available options will help you to steer your design in the right direction for the long term energy and CO₂ savings.

home energy masterplan

What's in it for Architects and their Clients?

We can help you do this much more accurately and expediently by providing an independent analysis - which also reassures clients that design proposals are in their long term interest.

“The clarity and thoroughness of Parity Projects’ service provides an invaluable resource to communicate energy & CO₂ data to clients. My advice to anyone seeking to reduce their energy bills would be to commission a Masterplan and go from there. It provides essential information needed to make informed and effective decisions on energy saving measures.

Richard Hawkes, Hawkes Architecture ”

When could a masterplan be useful to your project?

Winning the client engagement

The ability to provide a detailed and graphical analysis of their current energy and CO₂ profile as well as the potential effects of initial ideas. We want homeowners to seize the opportunity for installing energy efficiency measures when most cost effective.

Prior to detailed design

Helping to understand how the building is working and where efforts might best be focused.

For the Planning Application

The report will provide additional quantitative and qualitative information to support your planning applications.

During the design stage

Gives you the information needed to help you make the best choices. The plan directly compares the cost and benefit of similar measures e.g. different types and depths of insulation.

For showcase work

Quantifiable Data and graphics to explain why design and construction decisions were made.

Parity Projects Masterplan both informs and validates many design decisions at the early stages of a project, and provides my clients with confidence about the best solutions for themselves as well as their home.

James Owen Webster, Architect

Stone Cottage, Minchinworth

What flexibility is there with the masterplan?

Co-branding opportunities

Reports can be co-branded to include details about your practice and your logo.

Snapshot v Masterplan

We offer a cut-down report which only provides a 'current situation' snapshot which can support planning applications.

Inclusion of client and architect ideas

Our analyses include client and architect specified measures to evaluate. We can include the simplest and the most complex.

Printed on Recycled Paper Stock

Parity Projects Ltd.
Westmead House, 123 Westmead Road
Sutton, Surrey, SM1 4JH
Telephone: 0208 643 6630
info@parityprojects.com www.parityprojects.com

 parity projects
delivering sustainable development